

RED TROOPS STORM WAY INTO WHITE RUSSIA

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

ONE of the many things the world likes about General Douglas MacArthur is that this great soldier speaks his mind as befits a man of action, but his unusual statement in Australia that however subordinate may be his role in the war, he hopes to play it manfully, leaves one with feelings of deep puzzlement as to why he thought it necessary to issue it.

The general's declaration is wholly cryptic to the American public, and the usual news sources in Washington profess to be equally at a loss. There's no indication of what inspired it beyond the fact that obviously something is troubling him.

It is that the supreme commander of army, naval and air forces of the Allied nations in the Southwest Pacific (to give him his full, rather terrifying title) feels that he has been in some way belittled? If that is what he thinks, he's wrong, for his position in the esteem of the American people is as high as the skies. He is one of our great national heroes and his place in our hall of fame is secure.

All sorts of guesses are being made as to exactly what is in MacArthur's mind. But nobody has got close to it than that apparently he feels he is being circumscribed somehow in carrying out his strategic conception for the Pacific theater. This, as he says, "contemplates massive strokes against only main strategic objectives," which would "obviate the need for forming the mass of islands now in the enemy's possession." One of his most cherished objectives, of course, is recapture of the Philippines.

Many observers think perhaps MacArthur is talking about the coming Burma drive, and the appointment of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten as Allied commander in Southeast Asia. Well, it's hard to see how Mountbatten's appointment could subordinate MacArthur or detract from the latter's command. It might, of the Burma show, which will call for the massive use of vast striking-power in the Indian theater might temporarily deprive the general of resources which he would like for his own offensive.

BE ALL that as may, the Allied high command says the Burma show is to go forward. That in accordance with the general strategy laid out long ago. As things now stand, one of the first things which must be done in the grand offensive against Japan is to drive the Mikado's little men out of Burma and reopen the famous Burma road—China's lifeline to the outside world.

It's one of the miracles of this war that the severity of this commitment hasn't already forced the Chinese to capitulate, despite their heroic fortitude. They're in a manner of speaking being fighting with bare fists and tight belts. If the Chinese should be knocked out it would present the Allies with bleak prospects.

We are looking to China to supply the fighting men to oust the Japs from the continent, and air bases from which we can operate against the invaders and against Japan itself. We must feed and arm the Chinese. We need Burma as a base. We need its resources, especially the oil which is so badly wanted for Chinese operations. Vast quantities of supplies must go up the Irrawaddy.

MacArthur Troops Succeed In New Landing Above Lae

(By Associated Press) ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 23.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today the seaborne landing of Australian troops above Finschhafen, enemy base 60 miles northeast of Lae on the New Guinea coast, and the destruction of remnants of a Japanese garrison on Arundel island in the Solomons.

Under protection of warships and planes, the Australians went ashore against enemy opposition at dawn Wednesday, just below the Song River. At dusk on the previous day, Japanese bombers and fighters sought to attack ships involved in the operations but were intercepted between Lae and Finschhafen by P-40s which shot down four bombers and five fighters at a cost of one interceptor.

Capture of Finschhafen on the Huon peninsula, which is more suitable for ground action than any other territory previously attacked on New Guinea, would give MacArthur control of a gulf within easy overwater striking distance of Japanese-held New Britain and its stronghold of Rabaul.

Patrol Is Wiped Out On Arundel, directly west of New Georgia, American jungle troops destroyed enemy troops and reinforcements on the island's north shore and also on nearby Soga Karasa island to move within artillery shelling distance of the Japanese garrison at Vila across Blackett Strait on Kolombangara. Japanese guns at imperiled Vila immediately opened fire.

Sixty miles northwest of Lae at Kalamit, which airborne Australians captured Sept. 18, headquarters disclosed that a Japanese patrol of 200 was encountered the night of the transport landings. The Aussies killed 120 of the enemy and routed the others.

NAZIS WRECK BIG PORT AS ALLIES NEAR

Germans Scuttle at Least 30 Ships, Blow Up Harbor Workings

BY WES GALLAGHER ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 23.—Allied headquarters announced advances of 10 to 15 miles in central and southern sectors of Italy today in a forward sweep which was gradually forcing Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring to uncover the inland approaches to smoke-smothered, dynamite-shattered Naples.

Victorious French soldiers and American Rangers pressed the Germans back farther into the Northeastern corner of Corsica while Allied air forces bomb and machine-gunned Nazi ships seeking to remove escaping Nazis from the evacuation port of Bastia.

Allied soldiers were within sight and sound of the systematic wrecking of Naples by German demolition squads.

As the sound of frequent explosions from the smoking city rolled over the hills toward the Americans and British, Allied headquarters announced that the Germans had scuttled at least 30 ships at Naples and blocked practically every berth along the docks.

Big Port In Ruins
"Fires have been burning along the docks for several days, apparently as the result of demolitions," said the announcement which was based on aerial reconnaissance. Charges were seen to burst along the docks.

Aerial photographs also showed a large industrial area north of the docks has been wrecked by bombings and the railroad yards demolished.

"The extent to which this is going on indicates the enemy is determined to make the big port, one of the largest and best peace-time harbors in Europe, completely useless to Allied troops when they occupy it," the announcement stated.

(The German communique today admitted "a dent made by the enemy in our positions near Contursi" but claimed the break was "cleared up in counter-attacks. The enemy has brought up fresh forces in the eastern sector of the front without, however, so far commencing an attack."

(Contursi is between Averno and Avigliano and apparently somewhat to the rear of the new Allied line.)

North and northeast of Salerno the Germans were putting up a stiff and stubborn battle on the direct, shoreline route to Naples and little advance was made.

"With the first phase of the battle turned to WRECK, Page 5

Sen. Hatch Urges 'Big Stick' Peace

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—A demand for a big stick in the Fulbright "lasting peace" resolution was sounded by Senator Hatch (D-NM) today as a senate foreign relations subcommittee met to review a dozen postwar foreign policy proposals.

Hatch, who is not a member of the committee, told reporters he regarded the house-approved Fulbright measure as unsatisfactory because it lacks a definite pledge to use military force to prevent future aggression.

The proposal to use military force is the keynote of a resolution offered by Hatch and Senators Hill (D-Ala.) and Burton (R-Ohio), which the subcommittee is considering.

Their resolution, the Fulbright measure, and other pending proposals appear likely to have way in the committee to a compromise statement expected to be offered later by Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the full committee.

Pensioners Aid Harvest
COLUMBUS, Sept. 23.—Because of the farm manpower shortage, physically able recipients of state old age pensions "would be doing their patriotic duty" in helping harvest the corn crop, Karl R. Rabb, state aid for the aged chief, said today. Such earnings, Rabb said, "would not affect the recipient's monthly awards from the state." Of the 132,000 old age assistance recipients, about 5,000 men might be able to assist with harvesting, he estimated.

ABELE RECEIVES 14-YEAR TERM

Convicted Salem Bank Robber Sentenced to Leavenworth Prison

John Christopher Abele, 40, of Savannah, Ga., was sentenced in federal court at Cleveland today to 14 years in the Leavenworth, Kan., federal penitentiary for taking part in the $26,000 Salem bank robbery in 1935.

Abele, a dog fancier and respected citizen in the communities where he lived following the robbery, was one of several gunmen implicated. The men snatched the $26,000 industrial payroll funds from W. L. Hart, vice president at that time, and Lee B. Vincent, then cashier, of the Farmers National bank as they left the postoffice to take the money to the bank, eight years ago in November.

The thugs fled in a car waiting nearby and were followed on N. Elsworth ave., by Herman Stratton of Salem, who was struck by one of the shots fired at his car as he followed the men.

Lee Elliot McVoy was imprisoned in 1938 and Michael Beaver of Memphis, Tenn., believed implicated, was convicted of participating in a robbery and Springfield. A fourth man, Ray Douglas Brown, later was arrested at Mobile, Ala.

Abele, FBI agents asserted, was born at Memphis, Tenn., and has lived in Peoria, Ill., and Dayton, where he and his wife were accepted as law-abiding citizens.

Lisbon Will Return To Standard Time

LISBON, Sept. 23.—Lisbon clocks will be turned back one hour on Sunday to conform with the reversal to Eastern Standard time by Salem, East Palestine and Youngstown, council officials announced today.

Originally a village ordinance provided for the change on Friday, Oct. 1, but action by neighboring cities led to the present decision. Courtroom employees, after considerable debate, have compromised on a plan which will bring Lisbon, Salem and East Palestine workers in at 8:30 instead of 8, and East Liverpool workers at 9 instead of 8:30. East Liverpool, apparently, is retaining War time.

Don't Get Excited Over Larger Flow Of Beef To Market

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Hogs and beef cattle are beginning to move marketwards in considerably greater volume than during August and early September, but don't get excited. The increase doesn't necessarily foreshadow larger meat rations for civilians.

Following a normal seasonal course, the movement of beef cattle from western ranges has shown a substantial upturn in the last 10 days. Reports from 12 principal markets showed receipts last week totaling 268,000 head, or about 14,000 more than the record receipts of the corresponding week last year.

Receipts so far this week are running even further ahead of a year ago. But this is not always a true indicator of the beef supply. Some of the cattle always move on to midwestern farms for further feeding and fattening.

Predictions have been made in government as well as trade circles that the portion moving to feed lots this year would be smaller than usual because of a narrow profit margin in feeding. These predictions, if borne out, would mean a larger supply of beef this fall than if a normal portion of the cattle moved to feed lots for fattening. Feed-lot cattle do not become available for slaughter until late in the winter or early the following summer.

Reports reaching war food administration officials this week indicate, however, that a larger portion of the western cattle are being bought by midwestern feeders for further fattening than had been predicted. Thus the chances of larger meat rations—that is, reduced point values—are smaller than if fewer cattle were thus diverted.

Hog slaughter is expected to be unusually heavy this fall when marketings of the record 1943 spring pig crop get under way.

Divorce Action Filing Fee Is Boosted To $15

Break-Through Puts Russians Nearer Dnieper

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Moscow radio said today that Soviet troops are storming into White Russia in the Gomel sector, shortly after a German announcement that Nazi forces have abandoned Poltava, gateway to the heart of the Ukraine.

The Moscow announcement, which quoted the newspaper Izvestia, official organ of the Praesidium of the Supreme council, was recorded by Reuters.

Gomel, in the area where the new break-through was announced, is a rail center about midway between Kiev and Smolensk, within a bare 15 miles of the Dnieper river and within 150 miles of the old Polish border.

The advancing Red army, swinging forward along the entire Dnieper river front, was within clear view of the river along which the Germans are believed to have their main defenses in Russia, front line dispatches said.

Advance guards of the Soviets are within five miles from the Dnieper at some points with powerful Red army forces closing in methodically on the two Nazi bastions of Kiev and Smolensk.

There was an atmosphere of expectancy in Moscow, with some of the greatest victories of the war appearing to be at hand.

Poltava, a city of 90,000, lies on the Vorskla river in the Ukraine, and is the control center of a network of railways radiating to Khar'kov, Kiev, Kremenchug and Dnepropetrovsk. Poltava was captured by the Nazis Sept. 20, 1941, in their first powerful drive across Russia.

Destroy Installations
The city was isolated yesterday when Red army forces stormed the town of Dikana, 15 miles to the north, and Golovach, six miles to the south. The German broadcast said Nazi troops destroyed all military installations in Poltava before they continued their retreat westward toward the Dniester.

The Berlin radio said in a noonday news bulletin the center of gravity had shifted to southeast of Smolensk, the German central front bastion.

There, the Germans reported, the Red army was storming at Nazi positions with strong infantry and tank forces.

Bloody fighting was said to be raging west of Yehyna, some 46 miles southeast of Smolensk and in the Demidov region, 42 miles northwest of the key center.

Kiev, Russia's fourth largest city and keystone of the German defense wall on the Dnieper, was menaced from three directions as Red army forces continued to roll up victory after victory along the flaming 750-mile front.

8,000 Nazis Slain
Demidov, 42 miles northwest of Smolensk, was stormed by the Russians yesterday after one of the most sanguinary battles of the Soviet summer drive. Its capture, after two days of bitter fighting, elicited a special order of the day from Premier Joseph Stalin, who called the northern bastion "one of the strongest German defense centers."

More than 8,000 Nazi troops were killed in the struggle for Demidov, a Moscow communique declared. Three hundred prisoners were reported taken and tremendous amounts of war material seized. A three-way drive on Kiev, from the north, center and south was imminent, Russian front dispatches indicated, with the center push mounted from captured Berezan, 35 miles directly east.

On the Kuban bridgehead, far to the south, Anapa, one of the last escape ports from the Caucasus was cleared of German forces who are now pushed back to the Kerch strait. The Moscow war bulletin said 1,200 Germans were killed and 200 captured in the bitter fight for this port.

WOMAN UNINJURED IN SUICIDE LEAP
EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Dora Miller, 50, wife of Edward Miller, a potter, leaped more than 400 feet from the middle of the East Liverpool-Chester, W. Va., bridge into the Ohio river yesterday and escaped with only a pair of torn shoes.

An unidentified motorist saw Mrs. Miller place her purse on the walk, climb to the top of the railing and drop feet first into the river. She screamed before leaping. The motorist ran to the toll house on the Ohio side of the bridge and called police.

Fifteen minutes later police pulled the woman from the water. She was wearing a large coat which acted as a buoy to keep her afloat. She was taken to City hospital where examination revealed she had apparently suffered no injuries.

LOOK WHO'S TALKING

Congress is accused of playing politics whenever it questions an administration position, a charge that will be made frequently as next year's national election comes closer.

It will be pointed out—and with good cause—that congressmen are building political fences with an eye to next year's votes.

But since when has it been a political misdemeanor for congressmen to square accounts with voters? That is the way representative democracy works. That is the way a government responsible to the people it governs is supposed to work.

Before the accusation that congressmen are running for office and devil take the hindmost is taken too seriously it is important to know who's talking. Who is blaming the representatives of the people for trying to decide what the majority of the people want and trying to give it to them?

The accusers are found in two classes. In the first class are those who know exactly what they are saying and intend to keep right on saying it. Their aim is to discredit congress with the people. They want to develop a strong executive government at the expense of anything that happens to stand in the way—the judicial branch, or the legislative branch. They are the bitter-ending New Dealers who once exulted in a campaign to make congress a "rubber stamp." They are the minority in the United States that needs watching—the minority that claims it alone knows what is good for the people and what they should get.

In the second class are Americans who have fallen into the bad habit of copy-casting slanders on congress without realizing what they are doing. Instead of being grateful for a chance to be represented in legislative debate and action, they betray their own interests by criticizing their representatives—accusing them of playing politics as though the only politics played in the United States government was by congressmen. Everything about government is politics of one kind or another, and it is time right now to dispense with the vicious propaganda that it is wrong for congress to perform its duty in the system of checks and balances that keeps the republic from turning into an autocracy.

WAR LOAN DRIVE MUST NOT FAIL

The Third War Loan could fail. There is nothing automatic about the success of these drives to finance the war. That is an impression left by the previous campaigns, which were aimed at banks.

This campaign goes beyond the banks, to the sources of the national wealth which ultimately must pay for the war, either through taxes or inflation. This is the first hard War Bond drive that has been tried.

That's why this is the drive that must not fail. The German and Japanese governments are watching it as closely as they are watching the clues of troop movements. This is vital information for them.

Failure to reach the goal set for the drive would mean a cutback in Allied military effort. It would mean that the United States government was unable to rally 100 percent financial support for its war program. That would be good news in Berlin and Tokyo.

Seven days remain to finish the job. It will take every bit of energy that can be mustered to finish it right. Anything less than total effort is almost certain to end in a failure the American people must not permit to happen.

GEN. MARSHALL NO FIGUREHEAD

Backstairs gossip and warroom rumors about plots to give someone a black eye will not detract from the popular conviction that Gen. George C. Marshall is the best available soldier to lead the combined forces of the United States and Great Britain as commander-in-chief.

It would mean that all other commanders—Gen. Eisenhower, Lord Mountbatten and the naval leaders in the war—would be under his personal orders. He would perform from day to day the function previously performed by the coordinated commands through their conferences. He would be the supreme commander-in-chief of the armed forces of both nations, responsible to both governments.

In the hands of a less able man it might turn to globaloney. However, there is nothing about Gen. Marshall's character or record to indicate that he is going to be wasted on globaloney. Certainly, he is no figurehead. Rather, the evidence is on the side of responsibility even heavier than is suggested by the immediate facts—evidence that in the near future Gen. Marshall is going to be field commander for the climatic offensive to crush Germany in Europe and Japan in Asia. When this happens there will be need of a man who holds the confidence of the United States and Great Britain to make the decisions that will be called for minute by minute until the vast operation has been carried out.

Just why it is that the news about Gen. Marshall was preceded by reports of dirty work at the crossroads is not clear. It is safe to assume, however, that where so much is at stake a great many persons have had axes to grind and wood to chop. It is a situation testing the confidence of the American and British peoples in their war leadership, and the present indications are that the verdict will be overwhelmingly favorable. It looks like a move to get on with the war—to get it over with more quickly—and that is what the people want.

RESOLUTIONS FOR PEACE

An overwhelming house vote of 360 to 29 for the Fulbright resolution confirms a popular feeling that resolutions for peace are not the stuff of hot and heavy legislative controversy. Neither are plans for preserving peace by international action, as long as they remain conventionally vague. Both parties occupy approximately the same position, with neither party knowing exactly what it stands for, but each striving to convince its own members and its critics that its intentions are unimpeachable.

The fact is, they are unimpeachable. But events have moved rapidly. Congressmen and politicians kept accusing one another of being for the war or against it long after war had ceased to be an issue, and now they are trying to make something out of another dead horse. Certainly, everybody is for maintaining peace. There can't be any dispute about that. It is like Calvin Coolidge explaining that the preacher was against sin.

Congress should get the resolutions of good intentions out of the way and pass on to the serious business of how it intends to preserve the peace that it favors.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Call Doctor For Ear Trouble

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE BABY is sitting on the kitchen floor helping mother, and a pea or bean drops on the floor and baby picks it up and finds it just fits in the ear, so in it goes.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

And then trouble starts. Why does the baby do it? Heaven knows. One who was old enough to understand the question replied, "I didn't know any other place to put it." Which is about as good an answer as any. While it is usually babies who stuff foreign bodies in the ear, the practice is by no means confined to them. Some show-off starts to impress his girl at a party and before you know it he has a small button in his external auditory canal.

The situation is a serious one and requires a doctor to handle it. Clumsy efforts of parents or friends often result in simply pushing the foreign body further into the ear, getting it wedged there, and even perforating the drum. One of the worst things to do is to squirt water into the ear with the idea of washing out the invader. In the case of a pea or bean or a seed the water simply makes the object swell up and get tighter stuck than ever. One ear specialist instills alcohol in such cases to order to shrink the vegetable matter.

Removing Foreign Body
Even with the aid of an otoscope with which he can look in the ear and with a light see the whole situation, a doctor may not be able to get out the foreign body immediately. It causes an inflammation of the skin which is brought on also, by the way, by the clumsy attempts of the layman aforementioned and the ear swells up, tightening its grip on the object. It may be necessary to apply an icebag to the ear for several hours before the swelling has subsided enough to permit operative procedures.

Sometimes no one is to blame but by bad luck an insect crawls into the external ear and makes a nice, warm nest. Wood ticks commonly are the offenders, the victim being a camper. It is good practice for the doctor to kill the insect first by instilling a drop or two of chloroform before starting removal because in the case of wood ticks, they hang on. That much chloroform will not injure or blister the ear drum.

Complications and Infections
The complications of foreign bodies may be as serious as a bad ear infection. One extraordinary case is related of an eraser from the end of a lead pencil removed from the ear. One year later the ear started to discharge and finally a radical mastoidectomy was done.

and a fragment of the eraser removed.

The lesson is the old one not to put anything smaller than your elbow into your ear. Children have a natural predilection for stuffing things in the ear so they have to be watched.

Urges U. S. Tighten Immigration Laws

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—A federal grand jury which has spent 16 months investigating cases involving the German-American bund, immigration and naturalization says the United States will be placed in the "gravest jeopardy" after the war unless immigration laws are tightened.

Predicting an unprecedented influx of aliens, the jury recommended in a presentment that the nation adopt a system of "selective immigration," excluding all except those considered likely to contribute to the welfare of the country.

"The paramount consideration," the jury said, "is the welfare of the United States and not that of the immigrant."

CHAPTER THIRTY

Drew heard it from the shack—a rumbling growl that brought him at a dead run down over the edge of the savanna. Men were jumping frantically from the derrick floor; a dark form slid down the safety rope from the fourable board while, thrust upward by a rush of escaping gas, the drill stem began pounding furiously, and with dismayed eyes Drew saw a spearhead of flame whistling up from the well. Like the avid tongue of some subterranean monster, that long blue shaft licked hungrily about the base of the derrick, and second by second the roar deepened.

Already three men had uncoiled a length of fire hose and were playing a column of water toward the derrick, but the force of gas drove the feeble stream of water back into their very faces.

Drew caught sight of Spud. "What happened?" he shouted above the roar of the fire.

"We struck a gas pocket!" Spud's face was streaked with mud and sweat. "Wind blew it toward the boilers and it caught. The whole thing was ablaze before you could think. Hank and I made a run for the blowout preventer, but the flames drove us back. Thompson's burned bad. The boys took him over by the core house." Spud cursed helplessly beneath his breath. "If we don't shut off that gas soon, the flames will cut the derrick like cheese."

Drew had seen it happen before—that blazing gas would melt the legs of his derrick like a blowtorch and bring the whole structure crashing to the ground. Crumbling beneath the tremendous pressure, the well might blow at any minute, and none knew better than he what that could mean. More than once he had seen thousands of feet of drill pipe come whirling and twisting up out of a well, tearing its way through the derrick, leaving behind a path of black destruction. "Losing the well," oil men called it; but for Drew and Spud it meant far more than that—it meant losing everything.

Just one chance remained—to reach the blowout preventer. If they could close that wheel, they might cut off all passage for the escaping gas. But to reach the blowout preventer meant entering that deadly zone of flame; it meant treading on ground that at any second might become the crater of a volcano. For a moment long as a lifetime Drew saw the threatened end of all his hopes, and in that instant he made his decision. Waving the men to follow, he ran to a pile of corrugated-iron sections left over from the boiler house.

"Bring those sledge hammers," he ordered. "We'll build a shield and skid it to the blowout preventer."

Instantly they caught his thought. Two men lifted the heavy wooden skids they had brought in the boilers on; and now with spikes and sledge hammers Drew began fastening together two sections of corrugated iron, making a crude wedge-shaped metal shield, held upright on the skids. Behind this he might force his way forward to the blowout preventer.

They worked swiftly, casting fearful glances at the mounting flames, each man knowing that if the blowout came, they faced swift annihilation. A race against time. A race against the most violent of deaths. Some had already fallen back before that paralyzing threat.

Drew drove the last spike, then looked up to see Gloria running toward him. Frantically he waved her back. "Get out of this! My voice rose above the roar of the flames. "Get back to the savanna." She did not move. "I just came from there," she answered. "We took Thompson up to the shack."

A rumble deep down beneath the earth, as of a giant awakening, and the flames darted skyward. With a yell of dismay men began bolting for the savanna—the well was getting ready to blow!

Drew pulled on his heavy leather gloves. None was left but Spud and Gloria. Once more he shouted to the girl: "Get back!"

"Tell me what I can do," she answered quietly.

Reaching down, he thrust the nozzle of the fire hose in her hand. "Keep us wet!" Then, nodding to Spud, he set his shoulders to the metal shield and pushed. Slowly it moved, the wooden skids leaving a deep track in the wet earth. Straining, lifting, pushing, the two men made their way forward foot by foot, while behind them Gloria played a steady stream of water over their heads and on the shield itself. Heads down, toes gripping the earth, they strained on. The air grew hotter, and twice, tossed by the wind, a sheet of flame swept over them.

Drew looked back. Gloria was motioning them more to the right; and, shifting their direction, they resumed that dogged advance. Nearer now. They were passing the mud pit. A few feet more and they would reach the derrick's concrete base. Drew's eyes were blinded with sweat and water, his body steaming. Once he slipped and lay prostrate, but in an instant he was up and pushing again.

but wait. Wait and hope. They were beginning to pay the price of the oil fields at last. Up and down the room and out across the porch Drew paced like a restless animal while time dragged on.

One hour. Two hours. He phoned again. No, they hadn't located the doctor. The restless pacing resumed.

The sun began shining through the western window, filling the little room with light. A faint stir from the bed. Then—Drew's heart pounded—Spud had moved his head.

Throwing himself down beside the cot, Drew called to Gloria. "He's coming to!" His voice trembled—a crushing weight had lifted. Everything would be all right now—Spud was coming to. "Thank God!" he whispered. "He's conscious."

Feebly Spud raised his head. His eyes opened, his lips moved uncertainly, then in a hoarse whisper he muttered. "It's dark."

In sickening fear Drew leaned over him. "Can't you see me? Can't you see me, old man?"

With vacant eyes Spud stared straight toward the shining window. "Dark," he said again. "It's all dark."

Spud was blind. Cold with dread, Drew bent lower, while vaguely from side to side Spud moved his head. As if by a supreme effort his right hand raised an inch above the bedclothes, then fell limply back.

"Molly! Drew! You there?" A note of rising terror quavered in his voice.

Drew's hand tightened on Spud's. "It's all right, old man. I'm here. It's so dark," Spud's sightless eyes kept turning, as if in vain search for light. Once more his lips moved, once more he struggled to lift his hand and failed; then, with a long sigh, his eyes closed, his head slumped back on the pillow.

Drew raised an anguished face to Gloria. "What is it?"

"Concussion!" That meant no time to lose. Again Drew called the States Oil hospital. It seemed hours before they answered; their only message that they couldn't tell how long the doctor would be delayed.

He hung on. Once more he looked down upon that haggard face on the pillow, then turned to Gloria. "I can't wait here and see Spud die before my eyes. I'm going to take him to your father."

With the help of a dozen willing hands, Drew threw together a rough stretcher, then laid two mattresses on it and lashed it to the truck. Very gently they carried Spud out, and with Gloria beside him Drew started for the foothills. No ride had ever been so long.

He knew each moment might be precious, but he forced himself to creep around every turn, and as they climbed the last steep grade he wiped the sweat from his eyes. "If only your father is there!"

"He will be. I phoned him we were bringing Spud."

"What did he say?"

"Nothing. He hung up." Her eyes were clouded with fear. "Drew, that may mean he will not help us."

Thorpe's face had set. "He'll help us—if I have to make him."

Two Who Attempted To Kill Mussolini Released By Allies

BY H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
Representing the combined American press, distributed by Associated Press.

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN ITALY, Sept. 20. — Two men who many years ago attempted to assassinate Benito Mussolini and were condemned to life imprisonment have been released by Allied authorities from notorious penal islands but one of them, by a ghastly mischance, was killed by a German shell just seven days after he had been at liberty for the first time in 16 years.

The unfortunate victim was the less well-known of the two. He was an anarchist named Lucetti who, in the early days of the Fascist regime, threw a bomb at the Duce but missed.

At that time there was no death penalty in Italy. Lucetti was confined on the island of Santo Stefano and was freed by Allied forces Sept. 10. He was taken to the island of Ischia and was awaiting transportation when he was killed by a German shell Sept. 17.

Far more famous was Col. Tito Zaniboni who was on the island of Ponza when he was liberated.

World War I Hero
Zaniboni was one of Italy's World war heroes. He was colonel of a regiment of Alpine troops which all combatants in the last war recognized as one of the best fighting units in the world. He had every decoration for valor that Italy would give.

From the beginning of Fascism Zaniboni declared against it.

In 1927 he made up his mind that the best thing he could do for Italy would be to kill Mussolini. He bought the finest, high-powered hunting rifle with telescope sights.

Zaniboni planned his attempt on Mussolini's life for months.

One of the few places the Duce could be relied upon to appear in public during the first half of the Fascist regime was the balcony of Palazzo Chigi, which Mussolini used to use as his prime ministerial office.

Zaniboni finally managed to rent a room about 100 yards from the Chigi balcony and overlooking it. He had practiced with his hunting rifle until he could hit a dime at 100 yards. Mussolini was a doomed man. Zaniboni lived in his room and waited for Mussolini to come out.

It was not to be. Zaniboni had entrusted his secret to one man, but that was one man too many.

Mis friend became panic-stricken at the last minute and just before Mussolini appeared on the balcony agents of Mussolini's secret police broke into his room and overpowered him.

Of Zaniboni's 16 years in prison, three were spent on Santo Stefano, which Italians know as their Devil's island.

WRECK NAPLES PORT

le of Italy, which took place at Salerno, over, both our forces and the Germans are in the same positions as boxers sitting on the corner preparing for the next round," a military spokesman said.

He explained that both sides were regrouping for the next blow.

Meanwhile the Northwest African air forces held to their task of mopping up Nazi communications leading to the Naples area, with Mitchells, Marauders and invaders striking at bridges, road junctions and moving transport.

German forces defending Naples withdrew further to the north yesterday under the continuing pressure of the Allied armies, which captured the town of Avigliano, 60 miles east of Salerno. Allied headquarters announced.

In addition to Avigliano, the towns of Ginosa and Acerro were captured. Ginosa is an inland town 25 miles northeast of Taranto on the Italian heel and apparently fell to the Italian forces.

During the day, American P-40 Warhawks swooped on enemy shipping in the gulf of Manfredonia, 60 miles northwest of Bari on Italy's east coast.

The air command announced medium bombers attacked bridges, road junctions, gun positions and troop concentrations in the battle area yesterday while fighters and fighter-bombers made patrolling sweeps.

Jap Propagandists Rally Home Front

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Tokyo broadcasts today, the Office of War Information said, indicate Jap propagandists have begun an intensive campaign to rally their people behind the newly announced program to mobilize the nation's fighting spirit.

The controlled Tokyo press, automatically reacting to the program laid down by Premier Hideki Tojo in a radio speech yesterday, issued simultaneous appeals to the Japanese people to back up the government, the boardcasts disclosed.

Stress was laid on Tojo's demand that the nation's labor power be mobilized to the utmost and that the airplane and munitions output be increased.

In his radio speech the Japanese premier announced that unnecessary government offices, factories, schools and civilians would be evacuated from Tokyo and other large cities as a precaution against air raids.

Tojo, according to the OWI recording of a Domei dispatch, warned the Japanese people that the United States and Britain were "persistently attempting to counter-attack us with the intention of overwhelming Imperial Japan... by overcoming every possible difficulty," and that "the war situation is gaining in ferocity day by day."

In a dispatch reported to OWI, Domei said the new Japanese manpower mobilization program calls for the substitution by next May 15 of women for all men between the ages of 14 and 40 inclusive, in at least 25 "less-essential" occupations. The displaced men will be moved into the armed forces or war industries, Domei said.

Army Erects Radio Stations Abroad To Entertain Soldiers

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—American soldiers overseas have a link with home even if it is only a voice in their ear.

Fiddle-chin Bob Hope, balding Bing Crosby, Leggsy Betty Grable, Sunday hymns come out of loudspeakers and radio sets to American soldiers in:

Kiska, Chungking, Cairo, New Delhi, London, Oran, Palermo, Kohramahsijr at the head of the Persian gulf and in army huts in Greenland. Those are only a few of the places.

It is a big scale operation by the Army at home and abroad. Officers planning the invasion of Kiska long-distanced Washington for a radio station, picked it up in Los Angeles, moved it north, took it ashore the day after the first troops landed.

Headed by experts who were top men in the radio field in civilian life, the job is handled by the army's special service information branch radio section.

Erect Broadcast Stations
Two of their main jobs are making transcriptions (recordings) and setting up overseas radio stations to broadcast them.

Where there are as yet no radio stations — Guadalcanal is one — transcriptions are broadcast from this country by short wave. That short-wave is a round-the-clock performance.

The radio section now transcribes 36 hours of programs a day on 16-inch unbreakable disc records.

There are two kinds of transcriptions: Regular commercial programs which you hear at home—but with the commercial plugs deleted for the troops—and special programs written and arranged by the men of the radio section.

The 16-inch records — each side playing 15 minutes — are packed 72 to a box and delivered by plane wherever possible. The Army is shipping out an average of over 2,000 transcriptions weekly to 26 circuits.

Nearly all the well-known screen, stage and radio stars have appeared on the radio section shows which bring together more talent than you at home may ever have heard on one program.

One of the top programs is command performance, built upon the requests of troops for a special singer, special song or special music.

Sue For Unpaid Wages
TOLEDO, Sept. 23. — Thirty-one former guard employees of the E. B. Badger & Sons' Co., constructors of the Plum Brook ordnance works near Sandusky, filed an intervening action here to collect $100,000 they claimed due them for unpaid overtime work between July and December, 1941.

Cure of Two Cattle Ills Would End Milk, Fats Lack

CHICAGO — Elimination of two livestock diseases, mastitis and Bang's disease, would solve wartime milk and butter shortages in short order, the American Veterinary Medical association reports.

Mastitis reduces milk output 20 to 25 per cent according to Dr. M. G. Fincher, chairman of the dairy cattle disease committee. Cows in herds infected with Bang's disease produce about 20 per cent less milk he said in a report released by the association.

Success in combating mastitis depends on the farmer's vigilance in reporting suspicious symptoms early, Dr. Fincher said. Bang's disease is being eradicated through blood tests and calfhood vaccination, but permanent cure depends on cleaning up the area and keeping it free of re-infection, he added.

CORN CROP NEEDS TWO MORE WEEKS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — The weather bureau said today the mid-western corn belt needs two more weeks of frostless weather to ensure the prospective bumper crop against extensive damage.
Two weeks ago the federal crop reporting board forecast a corn yield of 2,985,000,000 bushels—the second largest on record—but added that, due to the fact that much of the crop was planted late it would need good maturing weather.
The bureau said that frosts were reported during the past week in northern portions of the corn belt, but the damage was not great.
Next year's production levels of hogs, cattle, milk, eggs and poultry will be governed in a large measure by the final outcome of the corn crop, because pre-war feed surpluses have been virtually exhausted.

Gardens and miscellaneous crops suffered frost damage last week in northern sections as far south as northeastern Ohio, the bureau reported.

America's purchasing power increased from 48 billion dollars in 1932 to an estimated 140 billion in 1943.

Johnny Stanko, Ex-Steubenville Gridder, Is Captain at U. S. Flying Base In England

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A. I. Goldberg of The Associated Press' London staff came to the AP from the Steubenville Heald-Star. Out at an English flying base he ran into Johnny Stanko, captain of Steubenville High school's great football team a few years ago. Johnny's doing quite all right, as Abe relates in the following story.)

AT A UNITED STATES ARMY AIR FORCES BOMBER BASE, Somewhere In England—Captain Johnny Stanko, who once led Steubenville High school's "Big Red" football team and gained other plinacles of athletic glory—at Georgetown and at North Carolina, with Hunk Anderson—is doing all right as the guiding spirit of another sort of team, the Flying Fortresses of the "Fightin' Bitin'" squadron at this base.

Officially he is John Stanko, captain, USA, adjutant of ---th squadron and Provost-Marshal of this sprawling air base in England's midlands.

Unofficially, to everyone from the commanding officer down he's "the sheriff".

Johnny is responsible for discipline on the base. His office issues the passes for the enlisted men to leave the post for an evening in town. He military police help keep the men out of trouble and guard the post against intruders. His aides check the men's record of attendance at the important day school.

Liked By Everyone
This chunky, blue-eyed youngster is warmly-liked by everyone on the base. He's been over here a year and like almost every other soldier in the theater he'd like to have a couple of weeks vacation, to get back down to Steubenville to visit his dad and mother and to get to Dayton to see his wife, the former Ethel McGee Rowland, formerly of Raleigh, N. C.

The beautiful Mrs. Stanko, who has two flying Fortresses named for her—the "Gezill No. 1" and "Gezill No. 2"—is keeping Johnny's beverages business going while he's helping with this war.

Her pictures occupy a prominent place in his comfortable quarters and all over the post, when I mentioned I knew Johnny from way back and came from his home town, one query was "do you know that pretty wife of his?"

Matter of fact, it was chance that led me to Johnny. I was but three days in England when I was assigned to go up into the country to cover a story on Eighth USAAF boys volunteering to help with the harvest. In talking with some of them out in the fields, I mentioned I was from Steubenville.

Learns of Whereabouts
"Our Provost-Marshal is from Steubenville," one Ohioan from Crooksville told me. "He's Captain Stanko."

"Johnny Stanko, the football player?" I asked.
"That's right," I was told.
It was too late for me to get back up to the base to see him but I wrote him that I was around and would look him up later.

The following Sunday I walked into the office for a quiet evening. I thought, and immediately was assigned to go out to interview fliers returning from raids on France and Holland. The assignment took me to the same base, and the public relations officer immediately phoned Johnny that I was on the base.

The camp was mine from then on.
It turned out that I had to stay on through three days of raiding, including the anniversary raid that took Johnny's "Fightin' Bitin'" squadron, along with others from the base, to the important raid on Schweinfurt.

He turned out the first ice cream I have had since I have been in England.

Life of Riley
He turned out the first shower bath I've had in England—showers are a scarce article here, even in the best equipped army camp. But Johnny had found some plumbers in his outfit and they had showers built by last spring.

In getting away from the office fast, I had left my pipes behind. Johnny found me the last pipe they had in the post-exchange and staked me to cigarettes and cigars until I could get some.

I ran out of socks and shorts. I wore Johnny's. It was chilly on the post at night, Johnny's sweater kept me warm. Johnny is a very helpful gent.

It turns out he has another Steubenville boy in his outfit. He is Staff Sergeant Charles Fattigati of railroad avenue, a combat crew gunner, who was absent from the post, however, because he was on duty as a gunnery instructor at another school.

Charley played on the football team that Johnny coached at Catholic Central for three years. He came onto the post in another squadron. Johnny, who gets things done, got Charley transferred to the "Fightin' Bitin'" squadron.

Captain Stanko is proud of that group. It went 41 missions without loss of a plane or a man. Security reasons prevent identifying it by number, but the cartoon of a mosquito fighting and biting is a familiar one over Hitler's occupied Europe.

Johnny has the air medal for completing five missions that took him on tough raids over Bremen, Wilhelmshaven, Rouen, Meaulte and the Renault works near Paris. He served as a gunner on the missions and had one or two thrilling rides.

SOLDIERS HARVEST NEW YORK APPLES
NEWBURGH, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Soldiers from Fort Devens, Mass., began today their second week of apple picking in Orange county while orchard owners sought repeal of a War Department "no pay" order.

Samuel B. Phelps, manager of the lower Hudson regional market, said the War department had notified growers the soldiers were on "active duty" and therefore ineligible to receive pay other than their Army stipends.

Despite the order, Phelps reported, the 112 Fort Devens soldiers in this section are doing "a darn good job."

The War department edict, Phelps said, affects all of the 1,370 soldiers assigned to help New York farmers and canners harvest and process the crops following Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's appeal to George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, for the services of 1,200 Italian prisoners of war to help overcome the labor shortage.

Phelps said that meanwhile the money earned is held in escrow and that if the soldiers do not get it, it will go to the U. S. treasury.

STEEL HEIRESS, 31, IS GIVEN FREEDOM

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23. — Judge James Gay Gordon, Jr., today ordered the Pennsylvania hospital's department of mental and nervous diseases to discharge Cecilia Grant McCormick, 31-year-old Pittsburgh steel heiress who says she has been virtually a prisoner in mental institutions for 14 years.

"The court finds under the evidence presented that the reactor is no insane," the common pleas jurist said after a short hearing on her writ of habeas corpus proceedings.

Miss McCormick's foster-mother, Mrs. John McCormick, had said in a formal statement that the heiress was committed "voluntarily" and that she was welcome home at any time.

The young woman's attorneys, James D. C. Murray of New York and William A. Gray of Philadelphia, insisted, however, on a court adjudication of her sanity, saying that a ruling was necessary to prevent recommitment later.

Eviction of the Japanese from their positions in the Burmese jungles represents a vast operation. It calls for an amphibious expedition which will tax Allied resources if it's undertaken before the end of the European war, as we are led to believe is the intention unless Hitler collapses in the near future.

Perhaps MacArthur's own operations might be delayed by this, though one would hope that he might see both offensives going at once, thus placing the Nipponese in a vise.

Indians' Youthful Manager Faces First Player Rebellion

JIM BAGBY ASKS TO BE TRADED TO ANOTHER OUTFIT

Wants to Get Away From Boudreau; Says He's Been Made the Goat

By LARRY SMITH
BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The major leagues' youngest manager first his first player rebellion today after Pitcher Jim Bagby announced he was "tired of being made the goat" and was willing to be traded and take a pay cut "to get away from Boudreau."

The Cleveland Indians' slim right hander and 16-game winner told a Cleveland baseball writer last night he had asked to be traded after Manager Lou Boudreau had fined him $100 for being out of condition. "A few weeks ago he left me behind when the team went to Chicago," Jim said, "and the statement he gave to the press was that I needed a rest. Well, do you know what that rest cost me? Just $100. He fined me for that being out of condition. That was when I went to Peckinpaugh (club vice president) and told him to trade me."

Out of Condition?
"How can Lou say I was out of condition?" he continued. "Look at the records and you'll find I've pitched more innings than any other man in the league. Is that the record of a guy that's out of shape? He says I don't do enough running. I say I run as much as any of our pitchers, more than some. Why does he pick me out as an example?"

The Tribe's 26-year-old pilot admitted "Jim and I haven't seen eye-to-eye on some things," but added "I'd be silly to trade him unless I could get something of equal value for him. I'd rather have a disgruntled winner than a happy loser."

Boudreau's benching of Jeff Heath a few weeks ago provided the first indication that all was not peaceful in the wigwag. The slugger outfielder was removed from the lineup for criticizing an order to "take" the first pitch when he went to the plate with the bases loaded but Lou considers the incident closed.

"Jeff is in the hospital with bronchial pneumonia," he said, "but if he were well and able to play he'd certainly be with us now."
Back in 1940 the Cleveland front office quelled an Indian uprising by firing Manager Oscar Vitt, then under a one-year contract, but President Alva Bradley has signed Boudreau to the longest contract he ever has given any player—a three year document that doesn't expire until 1945.

Yanks Can Grab American League Pennant Tomorrow

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees can clinch their seventh American league championship in eight years tomorrow.

Apparently realizing they were running behind previous years, the Bombers bowled over the Detroit Tigers 4-2 yesterday and now need only three more victories to eliminate the Washington Senators and two to dispose of Cleveland.

The Yanks showed adequate authority in taming the Tigers with Charley Keller hitting a three-run homer, his 29th of the year, in the first inning and Hank Borowy pitching seven-hit ball for his sixth consecutive victory and 10th in 11 games.

The Senators sailed to their 10th straight triumph in the first part of a twilight-night doubleheader, 4-0. But they were shelved to a 9-1 defeat in the second game as Denny Galehouse pitched a six-hitter.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Starting off right: On the first night of bowling in a Chicago Ladies' league, Laura Stelmacher came through with a series of 205-254-251-710, highest score for any Chicago woman in eight years.... When it was announced in the press box that Rookie-Joe Soskovic and old man Johnny Cooney wouldn't accompany the Dodgers on their current western tour, the announcer explained: "Soskovic is going back to school and Cooney is playing hooky."

Arthur Metheny, Yankees—Bud learned to play baseball on the streets of St. Louis and played on an amateur team that won the city championship.... once hit .572 at Williams and Mary but it's safe to say he won't do that at Yankee stadium. Currently he's clanking .269 for the Yanks.

Stan Musial, Cardinals—Stan started out three years ago as a left-handed pitcher at Dayton's Beach but soon saw the error in his ways. He's a clinch for the National league batting crown with a .358 average. Also leads the league in doubles and triples and has socked 13 homers.

Dick Sipek, Cincinnati farmhand who hit .335 for Birmingham this season, shouldn't have much trouble with umpires. He can neither speak nor hear.... And Paul Florence, head-man of the Barons, sees him as the logical successor to two old-time stars who were similarly handicapped, The Reds' Billy Ho and Luther "Dummy" Taylor of the Giants.... Fritzie Zivic, who was suspended last summer for failing to go through with a bout in Chicago, is pleading for reinstatement by the N.B.A. so he can pick up some easy dough while he's still an attraction in the ring.

Germans Use New Type of Aerial Torpedo
 BY DON WHITEHEAD
 ABOARD A UNITED STATES WARSHIP IN THE GULF OF SALERNO, Sept. 16. — The Germans are believed to be using a new type of radio-controlled aerial torpedo against the Allied invasion fleet in the Gulf of Salerno. (This is the first indication that the weapon was used against Italian invasion forces. Prime Minister Churchill told commons yesterday of the Germans' development of "a sort of rocket-assisted glider which releases its bombs from a height and is directed toward its target by a parent aircraft." Whitehead's story, written last week, was released by censors today following Churchill's disclosure.)
 There have been previous reports that the Germans were experimenting with an aerial torpedo, but this is the first time, it is believed, that it has been used in actual combat.
 Several naval officers said they saw a winged object, like a small plane, flying toward a boat. It passed overhead, wheeled, and then dived.
 It is believed the torpedo is controlled by radio from a plane flying at a high altitude, with the pilot controlling the projectile.

Will You Make This A Day For Our Heroes of America?

Buy a bond today to honor someone you know in the service

Washington wept in his heart for his freezing troops—
And saw blood on the ice where shoeless feet had trod.
“A strong nation is not born of indulgence and ease.”

*Oh, heroes of America, who are abroad in the earth today,
Enmeshed in the hot and unreasoning machinery of war—
We would not have you know how we cling to our dollars—
Our cowardly, slacker dollars, while you die for us.*

Franklin, Jefferson, Hamilton, Hancock, Henry—
 "If a people hate war too much to risk all for freedom
 At the drop of a hat—freedom will be taken from them."

*Fathers of America, who carried the fearful weight
Of a rebellion and a whole nation on your shoulders—
Who dared to face complete destruction—turn from the sight
Of our swollen bank accounts, and our little ideas
Of how few bonds pay the price of our rich inheritance.*

Lincoln . . . with the great rugged soul of you suffering—
 Risking the life of the Union to save it,
 Help us to be a credit to ourselves—and to our children.

*American heroes! Boys and men from farms and towns,
From stark cities, from plains and woods and mountains—
Who are laying your lives at our feet for our freedom—
Wait now . . . for the impact of this successful hunt
Which beats out from corners and vaults,
From dark and secret places, our dollars—too decent
To remain in hiding when lending them is our duty,
OUR PRIVILEGE—and your due.*

★ If you POSSIBLY can... you must buy a bond TODAY... else shame the collective heart of America. For today, all over the country, we all buy a bond in honor of a man or woman at war. Get tough with your money. Whip it out and make it buy bullets and bombs. Only slackers nurse slacker dollars. Send MORE of your dollars to war, to fight. Do it today, for this is AMERICAN HEROES day.

It's EASY to Buy BONDS Whose War IS This?

It's as easy to buy bonds as to buy shirts or socks. Go into any store or place that's an issuing agent. Pay your money wait while the bond is typed out with your own name and address—and take the bond away with you. You pay $18.75 for a bond you cash in for $25 in 10 years—$37.50 for a $50 bond, $75 for a $100 bond, $750 for a $1000 bond. If you need your money before the bond matures you can get your money back with earned interest. Lend now for your future.

This isn't the soldiers' and sailors' war. It's yours and mine. It's America—and all we stand for—that the Axis is fighting. That's you and me. We don't have to go to the front to fight—we can send our money. If we don't do that, we're coasting while others carry the fight at the front and at home. Everyone is either "motive power" or a drag on the war. Do all your share. In honor of a fighter you know—or know about—buy a bond today.
